THE blade at the end of a great ship's propeller sends the vessel leaping ahead through its tremendous grip on the waters of the ocean, but the power that drives the blade was long before generated far down in the vessel's furnaces.

The outward and visible signs of power in the human being are the clear eye, healthy skin and supple, swinging motion of perfect health. These, however, are only the outward and visible signs of harmonious functioning of digestive and assimilative processes.

Whenever digestion is below par, assimilation also falls off, reserve strength drops below normal, and then come the tired step and other outward evidences of interior disturbance.

A good stimulant in moderation helps digestion better than anything else.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is the best stimulant to restore the whole system to normal conditions. It is made under the best conditions, free from adulterants, and, in moderation, is of incalculable benefit in assisting the system to maintain perfect health.

But it must be used in moderation.

Sold at drug stores, grocers and dealers everywhere, or direct, $1.00 large bottle.

Another Dagobert Story.

L. J. Beeston has another of his superb Dagobert's Children stories, the fifth we have printed thus far, in our next Sunday Magazine. "Intercession," this one is called, the story of poor, wounded Etienne St. Honoré, captured by the Germans and taken into a convent, where in his tortured moments he discovered the sweetheart of his court days, who had fled from the scenes of her disappointed love and taken the veil.

Dagobert himself, who found the commander of the Prussians just discovering that his prisoner was none other than the one who had kept the girl from him; for this Prussian, too, was in love with the sister. All our readers know what a tremendous plot, and we assure them that they will not be disappointed in their expectations in this instance.

Miss Roberta Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Harris, died Wednesday morning at Rising Sun, Md., from meningitis.

ICE BLOCKADE BROKEN; NO DANGER OF FAMINE

Leonardtown People Inconvenienced During Tie-Up, But Deny Suffering.

The reports that residents of Leonardtown and the lower end of St. Mary's county, Md., which is distant from the railroads have been suffering for want of the necessities of life, due to the cutting off by the ice of the boats from this city and Baltimore that bring supplies, are declared to be largely exaggerated.

"The people have been somewhat inconvenienced, but there has been no suffering for want of food," was the reply of Judge B. H. Cammiller of Leonardtown to an inquiry made of him this afternoon by long-distance telephone by a Star reporter for information as to the exact conditions in his town and in the country in the neighborhood of Leonardtown.

"The fact is," Judge Cammiller continued, "there has been less suffering this year than last winter or in numbers of years before. I know of no case of actual suffering, even by the dredgeboat hands, and the people here have had less calls from their friends than in past years."

"I did hear of several persons at a wharf the month of Breton's bay that wanted assistance, but we could not get wanted definite even from this case."

State Boat Breaks Ice.

"As I said, the people here have been a little inconvenienced in having a full supply of some things, but by helping each other we got along very well. You know Leonardtown prides itself in taking care of its people, and this has been done this winter. The state ice-boat came in a few days ago last night and thoroughly broke up the ice covering it, so that the steamers from Baltimore can now come here with supplies of all kinds."

No Work for Revenue Cutter.

A wireless received from Capt. Carmine of the revenue cutter Apache by Capt. Commandant Berthoff stated that the cutter had gone to Bretons bay as ordered, but found the ice breakers had been there and her services were not needed.

PASSENGERS ON A CAR SHOWERED WITH COAL

Collision With a Wagon Load of the Output From the Mines.

A number of workers in the government service presented what is popularly regarded as a Pittsburghian aspect when they reached the place of employment this morning, coal dust on their clothes and sooty marks on otherwise spotless linen suggesting a recent visit to the Smoky city.

The cause of their unkempt appearance was a crash between a crowded car on the Mount Pleasant line and a coal car near the intersection of Connecticut avenue and S street shortly before 9 o'clock. The vestibule of the car was smashed and many windows broken. For a time considerable excitement prevailed among the passengers, many of whom were women. As one of them described it, "there was coal in the car, under the car and all around the car, and due to the delay, even the air felt quite coated."

Chester Boyd, colored, the driver of the coal cart, living at 3440 Volta place, was thrown into the air by the force of the impact, landing on the ice near the rear of the street car. Those who went to his assistance found him dead on time. But the car had moved but a short distance when another coal cart blocked its passage, causing a delay of an additional ten minutes.

Employees of the railway company had a car switched from the northbound track in order to get the passengers to their places of employment on time. But the car had moved but a short distance when another coal cart blocked its passage, causing a delay of an additional ten minutes.

BIEBER ENTERS RACE FOR DISTRICT HONOR

Will Oppose Aaron Bradshaw for Delegate to Republican National Convention.

When the hands of the clock closed together upon the dot of noon today two tickets had entered the race for the republican primaries to be held in the District of Columbia February 10. Sidney Bieber, much to the surprise of a large coterie of republicans, planked down $400 in the office of John Lewis Smith and declared himself a candidate with Dr. James R. Wilder, Andrew Gleason and George F. Collins will be the alternates on the ticket.

Opposed to this, of course, is the Aaron Bradshaw-Calvin Chase ticket, which qualified with Dr. William Tyndall and Charles H. Marshall as alternates.

Sure of Primary Law.

Gen. Andrew S. Burt and E. M. Hewlett had $400 already deposited, but at the last moment a message from the Capitol deterred them. The message was to the effect that the Bristow bill establishing a primary law in the District of Columbia is sure of passage. Gen. Burt said this morning that he still is in the race and in case the Bristow bill passes his ticket will be heard from.

With the conclusion of these preliminaries, the real work of getting out the republicans will start. Meetings are being held nightly, and the conversation among republicans indicates a lively time to come.

DR. J. T. STRATTAN DEAD; VETERAN NAVY EMPLOYEE

For Many Years Attached to Civil Engineer's Office at Washington Yard.

Dr. John Theodore Strattan, a prominent resident of Great Washington and for many years attached to the civil engineer's office at the Washington navy yard, died suddenly at his residence, 322 1/2 street southeast, yesterday. He had been ill but two days and a fatal termination was not expected. Arrangements for the funeral have been delayed awaiting advices from out-of-town relatives.

Dr. Strattan was born at Strattonville, Pa., October 22, 1838, and came of a long-lived family, his mother, now past ninety-six years of age, being still alive. He entered the army as a volunteer in 1861, in the famous "Wild Cat" Regiment, the 10th Pennsylvania.

After serving a year he was honorably discharged under general orders, and subsequently enlisted in the 3d Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery, with which he served until it was mustered out at the close of the war, when he was appointed to a clerical position in the War Department, and was subsequently transferred to the civil engineer's office at the navy yard. He was graduated at the Georgetown Medical College in 1872. He was a member of the American Medical Association, of the American College of Podiatry, and of the American Association of Surgeons.

ADVANCE IN OIL PRICES SINCE TRUST DISSOLUTION

Will Cost New York Motorists $200,000 a Month More to Run Their Cars.

NEW YORK, February 1.—Prices of oil have been going up steadily since the dissolution of the oil trust by the decree of the United States Supreme Court, and a representative of the Standard Oil Company said today that they probably would go higher. Three times this year the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has advanced the price which it pays for crude oil, and there have been corresponding increases in the wholesale and retail quotations for kerosene, gasoline and others of the refined products.

Gasoline has risen 2 cents a gallon in New York markets. Automobile dealers estimate the advance means an increase of more than $200,000 a month in the cost of running the automobiles in New York state.
